A: It seems like your commands are running in Windows, but your searches are running in Linux. You need to make sure you are running your commands in Linux. When you're using OS X, you need to use the Mac OS X terminal, since it has a different command line syntax. If you are using the Windows Command Prompt, you should run your search commands in a different way. Weddings and photos with a twist NEXT time you do something, it will be a piece of cake! The cake you'll be tasting will be totally YOU! It's a simple concept, really. Start with a common goal: to create something unique. What can you add to the process to really make it special? Ask yourself: "What would I love to see on my wedding day?" Would you like the couple to be "charmed" by the setting, the setting's character? Would you like to be as involved as possible with the couple, at the wedding, and the day after? Do you want to be surrounded by a group of people you care about? Would you like to help some of your fellow shoppers on the day and after? Do you want to raise some funds for a charitable cause, or save some for you and your loved ones? If you have a venue with a kitchen, would you like to serve food that will make the bride and groom feel special? If the venue doesn't have a kitchen, do you want to help provide extra funds to a charity or school that could benefit from your wedding gift? Do you want the vendor list to be short? Or do you want to really get to know the vendor community in the area you live? What is your concept of special? Does that concept include your guests? I created a concept called #ITakeAWeddingDay in 2016. The concept is to take a day that's already in your life, and make it as special as possible. Your wedding day is the culmination of a lot of planning, and your 4bc0debe42
