Free EXE Password is capable of working with any.exe file located in the hard disk. It does not modify the original file structure and has no registry entries. The tool can be saved to a flash drive, used with any Windows operating system and run without installation. At the moment, there is no way to protect.exe files or archives, including PDFs, DOCs and ZIP archives. Free EXE Password can work with EXE and EXE/DLL files. If you require any more protection for other file types, you can try another software. The Program also has the ability to encrypt files so that they can not be used or shared without an additional key. Screenshots: Create and use passwords On this page you can create a simple or complex password and apply it to a single.exe file. All you have to do is to enter a password and click on OK. It will then be used to protect the file and make it unreadable to others. Once the EXE file is protected, you can double-click it to open it and you won't have to enter any password anymore. If you want to use the same password for multiple files, then you can set it up once for all of them. Set the password length to 4, 8 or 16 characters. The program will accept and use a wordlist of 256 words for the password. Alternatively, you can enter a hint (a phrase, for example) and click on the OK button. The hint will be shown as an additional hint on the password screen. The hint can not contain any special characters, except the double quotation marks ("). To see if the password is correct, simply click on the OK button and you'll be able to open the protected.exe file. If the password is correct, it will be highlighted in red. If the password is incorrect, it will be highlighted in green. Change the protection mode You can use a single password to protect multiple files at once. To open or remove the protection, you just need to enter the password. To remove the protection, use the same password to open the protected file. You can also add a hint for a complex password, so that it is much easier to remember and don't forget what it is.
